Taking care of the essence of the issue, following steps have been taken:

Here are some proactive steps. Not only to check incidents of ragging – but also to ensure that the issue of ragging is handled at its roots.

The Anti-ragging committee worked two-three weeks before start of the semester under the guidance of the Faculty and Staff who are involved in the admission process.

In addition, we have also been taking proactive steps in terms of Human Values courses involving more than 5 Faculty members. Classes for this course typically involve weekly discussions with groups of 10-15 first year students, for the whole of the first year. A major thrust of these discussions is towards developing the understanding of trust and mutual respect among the students. Naturally this makes these students understand and appreciate the importance of healthy relationships and they are therefore least likely to even think in terms of ragging, when they become senior students.

We expect to reach zero ragging due to the proactive efforts.

13. Receipts of affidavit from the student and parents as envisaged under the regulation.
We have appropriate undertakings from the students at the time of Admission/registration.
