

Popular Lecture:

Topic: Personality Development Program

Speaker: Dr. Nita Khurana, PDPU

Date: 07/08/2014

The session began with introducing the speaker to the students, who were present in large numbers. Dr. Nita Khurana started with greeting the students, and mentioning that she has a lot of reading material in the form of word documents and powerpoint presentations of which she would cover only a small part but would leave us a copy to go through at leisure. She expressed her willingness to stay in touch with the students over the course of their study at IITRAM and help with resume critiques, mock interviews etc when needed.

Dr. Khurana asked the students to introduce themselves to her and then gave constructive feedback on aspects such as body language and tone of voice, to the students who volunteered. She asked the students to think about what is their passion and what makes them unique. Next, she spoke at length on various aspects such as writing a resume, how to behave in an interview, and the need to network, make contacts and stay in touch. One important message she gave was the need to keep professional and personal lives separate, especially on social media. She regaled the audience with anecdotes about her experiences as an interviewer, and also attempted to do a mock interview with one student who volunteered.
