Abstract

Mr. Jagdish Salgaonkar, enlightened the audience on the smart city project DHOLERA SIR – Gujarat, which is currently in the planning stage. He shared his experience about working on smart city infrastructure and gave first – hand introduction to the key features of the upcoming DHOLERA SIR project. He emphasized on Programme Management as a better tool than Project Management to execute large scale infrastructure plans. The audience drew inspiration by his views on the Industrial Corridor (DHOLERA SIR being one of the projects in it), which links major industrial hubs of India. DHOLERA SIR is carefully planned giving adequate space for industry, comfort residence and clean environment for parks, clubs etc. The lecture was followed by a short documentary video on DHOLERA SIR. The lecture was throughout received with applause from audience. The questions by the students on present scenario of Indian infrastructure and its future got explained by a very critical point of view of Mr. Salgaonkar.
